Palliative Care

Support in Residential Care Facilities

Palliative Care Support

For those in Residential Care Facilities, a guide for patients and their family/whanau

What is palliative care?

Palliative care is a “philosophy” of care. Palliative care is provided in many settings including residential care. Specialist palliative care and support services are for people who have a life limiting illness. This includes supporting your family/whanau and those close to you.

What is our role?

We provide a specialist consult palliative care service for people who live in residential care.

The rest home staff and GP will continue to provide your care. We are available in the background for advice / support / assessment as needed. We provide a 24/7 phone service for rest home staff which may assist with any issues that may arise.

Our aim is to work alongside rest home staff to ensure your care is tailored to your needs. This includes all aspects of your care and symptom management including emotional, physical, cultural and spiritual support.

“Our focus is your quality of life”

Kelly & Lisa make up the team who support the Rest Homes to provide palliative care for those who live in their care
