Antique Collectible

Embracing the beauty of vintage treasures.....

“ We have a fantastic event happening on Sunday, June 29; our annual HospiceShop Antique and Collectable Auction.

If you have never been to one of our auctions, I would strongly recommend that you come along this year. We have some fab pieces and one of my favourites can be classed as 'antique', which is defined as anything 100 years old or older.

This beautiful cobalt blue glass Victorian tray from the 1880's really caught my eye. It has a silver plate gallery by James Dixon & Sons (Sheffield, UK) who were well known for their silver work. This tray has blue glass handles, and I am still in awe that it came to us without any damage to it. This tray is well over 100 years old, and you would think it was made yesterday. It is well worth a look!

I am excited to see how some of the jewellery will go on auction day. We have some fabulous pieces this year. A stunning heavy 18ct necklace would be perfect for the next black-tie ball or perhaps a half sovereign dated from 1915 is more your style, or maybe you are like me and like something with a little more bling?

There is something for everyone in the catalogue this year. We have household pieces, lamps, a fabulous large rug, a great range of art, and so much more. If you want your home to be inviting, a little different and to showcase treasures from a bygone age, then come along.

As usual our HospiceShop Auction is being held at The Devon Hotel. Viewing from 10am and the auction starts at 12pm (noon). Absentee bids will be taken.

Be great to see you there. ”
